Your Guide to Mobility

Chester County is served by four public bus providers, two rail providers, a county-wide paratransit system, and taxi service in select locations of the County. The Chester County Planning Commission, in partnership with the County Department of Human Services, Department of Community Development, and county transit agencies has developed a Ride Guide to educate riders on these services. The Ride Guide was created to inform riders about the services the Chester County’s transit system provides and direct them to the appropriate transit agency or transit options that cater to their needs. Included in the Ride Guide is information about each of County’s four transit options (passenger rail, bus, taxi, and paratransit service), and links to the transit agency’s website where transit users can obtain more information about eligibility, procedures, schedules, and fares.

The Ride Guide was created to INFORM and DIRECT you to transportation OPTIONS in and around Chester County, PA.
Your online resource for information

The Chester County Ride Guide also has a companion website, www.ChescoRideGuide.org, where transit users can obtain additional information about each transit option within the County. The website features an interactive map that showcases all available transit services within the County and allows users to distinguish where each option is located and what options are available at each location. Links to additional information (i.e. schedules, connecting services) for each bus route and stop, as well as, rail stations are available.

The Ride Guide also speaks to Senior Citizen Shared Ride service and Medical Assistance Transportation needs. These are additional transportation programs that are available through several of the County’s transit agencies’ services and serve qualified users in need of transportation residing in Chester County.

Chester County offers passenger rail service provided by both SEPTA and Amtrak. Both agencies are located along the same corridor and provide service at select locations. The following table showcases where SEPTA and Amtrak service is provided in Chester County.
SEPTA's Paoli/Thorndale Regional Rail Line is one of thirteen passenger rail lines that serve the region, in particular Chester County. The rail line operates through the heart of Chester County between Thorndale and downtown Philadelphia. In Philadelphia, SEPTA users are able to board other SEPTA trains and travel all over the region. Paoli/Thorndale Line stops at the following train stations in Chester County: Thorndale, Downingtown, Whitford, Exton, Malvern, Paoli, Daylesford, Berwyn, Devon, and Strafford.

Please contact SEPTA for detailed information regarding the Paoli/Thorndale schedule or fare information. SEPTA users can buy tickets in advance at select stations, or on the train. Please note that service is limited west of Malvern during the weekends (No Sunday service and limited Saturday service).

Persons with Disabilities
At least one car per train contains a wheelchair berth and is marked with a wheelchair symbol. Accessible stations have bridge plates to help you board. While many train cars are pre-ADA they do accommodate smaller wheelchairs and scooters. Mobility devices measuring 30" x 48" may have difficulty making the turn from the vestibule into the car, so be sure to measure your chair. Riders who can transfer from their wheelchair or scooter and also have someone to assist in boarding/exiting the train, platform and station may wish to undertake boarding or exiting at non-accessible stations. However, if you are not accompanied by a companion or aide who can assist you, SEPTA strongly discourages this practice.

Train crews help riders board and exit, deploy bridge plates and make stop announcements. Remember that this is commuter rail service, with short headways and no porters or restrooms. Train crews do not escort riders, secure wheelchairs, or lift or carry briefcases, luggage, mobility devices or passengers. For more information about SEPTA's services go to Accessible SEPTA or call 215-580-7800.

System Status
System Status offers SEPTA users status information about SEPTA's transit system. It allows users to view particular transits routes and see whether a certain service is running according to schedule or if there is any alteration in service.

TrainView
Similar to System Status, TrainView reports the status for all Regional Line trains running on the SEPTA system. This reference tool allows SEPTA users to see whether the train is on schedule.

SEPTA Key
SEPTA announced its new electronic fare payment and collection system known as SEPTA Key. The full transition is scheduled to take place in two stages –Beginning in 2015, all bus, trolley, and high-speed vehicles (both City and Suburban service) will be part of the “Transit” Launch, while Regional Rail and SEPTA CCT Connect Paratransit services is expected to have SEPTA Key in 2016. For more information please go to www.septa.org/key.
Amtrak
Keystone Corridor
Philadelphia PA
Phone: 1-800-872-7245
Website: www.amtrak.com

Service
The "Keystone Corridor" is part of Amtrak’s larger Northeast Corridor System. The Keystone Corridor runs from Harrisburg to Philadelphia and on to New York. This route in particular runs through Chester County and can be used to travel toward Lancaster and Harrisburg or to Philadelphia, as well as points north and south along the eastern United States. AMTRAK trains stop at the following Chester County stations: Parkesburg, Coatesville, Downingtown, Exton and Paoli.

Please contact Amtrak for detailed information regarding the Keystone schedule or fare information. Trains have set fares based on the distance you want to travel. Amtrak users can buy tickets online, at the station, or on the train.

Persons with Disabilities
If you use a wheelchair, contact AMTRAK staff when you make your reservation. No matter which type of rail service you wish to use, due to limited schedules and station accessibility, it is very important to plan your train trip ahead of time. Decide which train station is closest to your home, what time you need to get there, and which train you should ride to get there at that time. It is very important to allow enough time to do all this. You also need to plan your trip back home, as many trains stop running in the early evening. If you use a wheelchair, always verify station accessibility. For information about Amtrak’s ADA services go to Accessible Travel Services at www.amtrak.com or call 1-800-872-7245.

The Keystone Corridor runs from Harrisburg to Philadelphia and on to New York.
Chester County has a number of bus routes that service several areas, but not the entire County. SEPTA

ADA Paratransit
In accordance with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), SEPTA provides comparable service for people with disabilities who are functionally unable to use regular accessible fixed-route bus service for some or all of their transportation needs. Eligible individuals can travel whenever and wherever buses operate in SEPTA's five-county service region.

Paratransit Program – CCT Connect
SEPTA operates two demand response paratransit programs for registered customers in accordance with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), and the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania Lottery-funded Shared-Ride program.

SEPTA's paratransit program, CCT Connect, is available to individuals with disabilities who are functionally unable to use regular, accessible fixed-route buses and light rail vehicles for some or all of their transportation needs; and to senior citizens, age 65 and older, who live in the City of Philadelphia.

ADA service must be provided within ⁴⁄₅ of a mile of all regular fixed route buses and light rail vehicles whenever and wherever they operate. Registered customers may reserve rides one to three days in advance of travel. There are no restrictions on trip purpose or frequency of travel. SEPTA does suggest that customers using wheelchairs or scooters on SEPTA vehicles have four securement locations on non-movable parts of their mobility device. For more information about paratransit eligibility call SEPTA CCT Connect weekdays at 215-580-7145.

SEPTA Accessibility
SEPTA understands the critical role public transit plays in making independence and mobility possible for citizens with disabilities throughout its five-county service region. All SEPTA buses and over 100 train stations are accessible. SEPTA is dedicated to making it easier for customers with disabilities to use its fixed-route and paratransit services through a comprehensive program of accessibility improvements including fleet enhancements, stations constructions, and other service initiatives such as its Accessible Travel Center. At the Center, customers can practice getting on/off a SEPTA bus, negotiate a fare box and positioning themselves within the wheelchair berth. They can also learn important tips about riding public transit. For more information visit Accessible SEPTA.
TMACC

ADA Services
As opposed to a traditional paratransit system, TMACC uses its existing fixed route fleet (SCCOOT and LINK) to fulfill the ADA mandate to provide service to disabled passengers within ¾ of a mile of the fixed route service. TMACC Ride for Health Initiative
The Ride for Health Initiative (RFHI) is a unique transportation program that provides residents in the greater Phoenixville area, who have no other means of transportation, a way to get to medical, job training, and social service appointments. Administered by the Transportation Management Association of Chester County (TMACC), Ride for Heath works with a series of “partner” medical/social service provider agencies in the Phoenixville area. The agencies schedule the bus and cab trips for their clients, and provide their clients with vouchers for public transportation (bus) trips or for individual cab rides. To find out more about the Ride for Health Initiative, and to determine eligibility, visit www.tmacc.org or call 610-993-0911.
